Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election without traverse of Group 1, claims 1-45, in the reply filed on 6/22/06, is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1,3,21,32,33,44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by De La Barrera et al (6,569,169).

With respect to claims 1, 21,32,44, De La Barrera et al disclose a surgical instrument comprising a handle (31) at a proximal end of the instrument, an actuator assembly (30) extending along a longitudinal axis and operably coupled with the handle assembly; and an implant engaging portion (11) at the distal end of the instrument, the implant engaging portion including a holder (23) positionable in contact with the implant and a clamp assembly (20) coupled with the actuator assembly, the clamp assembly includes a pair of distal arm portions (21,22) adjacent the holder and movable toward one another to engage the implant between the distal arm portions, the distal arm portions further being movable proximally relative to the holder with the actuator assembly upon manipulation of the handle assembly to release the implant from between the distal arm portions while the holder maintains contact with the implant; as set forth in column 3, lines 42-65, column 4, lines 55-67, column 5, lines 1-60, column 6, lines 1-67; and as best seen in FIGS.1-8.

With respect to claims 3, 33, De La Barrera et al disclose all the limitations, asset forth in column 3, lines 42-65, column 4, lines 55-67, column 5, lines 1-60, column 6, lines 1-67; and as best seen in FIGS.1-8.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 4-7, 22-25,34-36,45 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over De La Barrera et al. (6,569,169) in view of Fuss et al. (6,599,294).

With respect to the above claims, it is noted that De La Barrera et al teach all the limitations, except for a cradle surface extending along and between the first and second extensions and a distal arm that is curved along the longitudinal axis to offset the distal ends to a first side of the longitudinal axis; as claimed by applicant. However, in a similar art, Fuss et al evidences the use of a surgical instrument having a cradle surface extending between the extensions and a distal arm that is curved along the longitudinal axis to offset the distal ends to facilitate the introduction of the implant even when access is difficult.

Therefore, given the teaching of Fuss et al., it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made to modify the device of De La Barrera et al, as taught by Fuss et al to facilitate the introduction of the implant even when access is difficult.

Claims 8, 9, 37-39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over De La Barrera et al. (6,569,169) in view of Janzen (6,126,674).

With respect to the above claims, it is noted that De La Barrera et al teach all the limitations, except for first and second handle members pivotally coupled; as claimed by applicant. However, in a similar art, Janzen evidences the use of a surgical instrument including a first handle member and second handle member pivotally coupled to the first handle member to be turned or pivoted into the path of movement of the second leg.

Therefore, give the teaching of Janzen, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device of De La Barrera et al, as taught by Janzen, to be turned or pivoted into the path of movement of the second leg.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 10-20, 26-31, 40-43, are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
